Introduction

In the first year of the higher diploma students are required to undertake a disciplinary project to explore and research a disciplinary area.

The aims of this module are:

1. Introduce students to a range of materials and media,
2. Engage in a series of sequential workshops related to 2D studio,
3. Expand students' understanding of the interdisciplinary aspects of their chosen discipline,
4. Acquire technical skills and knowledge applicable to painting and expanded practice.

What will I learn?

On successful completion of this module students will be able to:

- Demonstrate technical knowledge and skills applicable to studio practice,
- Apply technical knowledge of painting techniques and lens-based media to studio project,
- Articulate multiple perspectives on painting as a medium within contemporary practice,
- Investigate painting and expanded practices through a series of workshops,
- Analyse ideas underpinning art within the public realm,
- Critically assess how painting and expanded practices are framed.

How will I learn?

Through a series of sequential practical workshops in studio that focus on skills and ideas development relevant to current to discourse in contemporary fine art practice. Workshops will be practical, discursive with opportunities for students to actively engage with the tutor. On-going tutor feedback in response to student questions features within the module learning context.

¹ European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System, where 60 ECTS credits equate to the workload of a full-time academic year

Students will draw on experiences from the work place and their lived experiences to inform their research and learning. Student will conduct group discussions to explore and document work based learning and its relationship to a formative art practice.

How will I have the chance to evaluate the module?

It is important to NCAD that students inform the development of teaching and learning at NCAD. We encourage all students to communicate their concerns and their observations about their study to members of staff so that any changes can be made in a timely manner.

About two-thirds of the way through the trimester, a student forum will be convened to gather students’ comments about their study and the delivery of the programme. In addition, at the end of the Spring Trimester, students have the opportunity to complete an online evaluation of their study and experience at NCAD. These evaluation events are important to current and future students, to ensure we can enhance the delivery of programmes at NCAD.

In addition, you are invited to discuss your experience on the module with your lecturers at any point during the year. You can also relay your comments to the class student representative who will communicate your comments to the staff.
